

Theater director Claire van Kampen dies on husband Mark Rylance's birthday

Claire van Kampen and husband Mark

Her husband and daughter Juliet described van Kampen as one of the “funniest, wickedest, most inspiring women we have ever known. Theater director Claire van Kampen dies on husband Mark Rylance's birthday

Her husband and daughter Juliet described van Kampen as one of the “funniest, wickedest, most inspiring women we have ever known. Theater director and composer Claire van Kampen died of cancer Saturday at the age of 71 , according to a statement from her family. Her husband, the actor and playwright Mark Rylance, and her daughter Juliet described van Kampen as one of the “funniest, wickedest, most inspiring women we have ever known,” the statement said. Van Kampen died “surrounded by family” in Germany on her husband’s 65th birthday