

Bangladesh in front of New Zealand in the fight to survive

Bangladesh is dreaming of losing New Zealand because of the venue Rawalpindi. Bangladesh whitewashed Pakistan for the first time in the Test series in August-September last year. Nazmul Hossain Shantara, who is happy with that memory, will face Mitchell Santner's New Zealand today (Monday) at three o'clock in Bangladesh

The match is very important for Bangladesh. Nazmul Hossain Shantara team will have to win today to survive the tournament. The T-Sports will broadcast this match live by the two teams. Bangladesh won the Test series in Rawalpindi last year. Although the version is different, the memory of the Bangladesh team, Phil Simmons, thinks that memory will be great before they face against the Kiwis, 'I hope. Because losing them in Pakistan is not an easy task. That victory gave the team a lot of confidence. So it will have a positive impact on our mentality.

New Zealand played well in the ICC's limited -overs tournament, despite the great success. They are also the second champions of the Champions Trophy. This time, the hosts have started a great win against Pakistan. On the other hand, the tournament has started at a big rate. So the Tigers will be under pressure. But the coach said, 'Okay, every match in this tournament is a pressure match. This is competition among the top eight teams in the world, so every match will be difficult, that is normal. Yes, they are playing well, but tomorrow is the new day. We will try so that they can't play as well as before.

Bangladesh team got a three -day rest between two matches. The opportunity to correct your mistakes is not supposed to be less. But to do well against the Kiwis, the batting lineup has to be burned. Tawheed, who made a great century against India, is completely healthy before the match against New Zealand. He went to the end of the previous match and dug up. Mahmudullah is also very healthy. However, his chances of playing are quite weak. It is not surprising when Mahmudullah was seen in the XI at the last minute. Although Mahmudullah plays, there is doubt about who will be dropped. The idea of excluding Soumya in Rawalpindi wicket may not be team management. In that case, another off -spinner Mehdi Hassan Miraj's forehead could burn,

Besides, the pace attack of Bangladesh is also changing. Nahid Rana is about to be included in the XI, which has increased the chances of losing Mostafiz's place. Mostafiz was not in his best rhythm in his recent matches, so Rawalpindi's batting -friendly wicket is being focused on not playing,

New Zealand, on the other hand, started the tournament with a win. They lost the host Pakistan. Kiwi captain Mitchell Santner wants to maintain the previous match against Bangladesh. However, he warned about the bowling attack in Bangladesh, 'The position we are in is great. I have done great in the tri -series and now the boys of Bangladesh will play with a lot of confidence. I think they are a very good party right now. Their spin sections are always full. But now their bowling attacks are very good, the pacers have come. '

There is no alternative to winning the semifinal dream. New Zealand, on the other hand, will confirm the semifinals if they win. This match will be the key to winning the match. The team that can influence the batting will be heavy. Bangladesh, who failed the top order in the previous match, is confident of batting in today's match. Success is possible if you can make this confidence in reality.
