

Within ten years, the mobile will be extinct, the gesture will work on smart glass!

Smart glass

With the advancement of technology, the world is changing rapidly. Mobile phones once brought revolution in people's lives, but this time the era of that mobile phone is about to end. In the next ten years, the mobile phone will disappear and occupy its place smart glass - Facebook founder Mark Zuckerberg said

According to Zuckerberg, the rapid development of technology and the progress of the digital world will reach a point where mobile phones will no longer be needed. Smart glass will be an innovation that will make people's daily life easier, faster and automated. The day to keep the phone in the pocket will end, all the information, calls, messages and navigation facilities will wander in front of the eyes.

One of the features of smart glass will be its latest features, which include head-up display, voice control, smart navigation and health facilities. This glass will be light, comfortable and easily adapted to people's daily life. It will have built-in headphones, which will give the eye-catching call receiver and send The price of this smart glass can be estimated at $ 5 to $ 5, which is equal to Rs. However, experts believe that if production increases, prices will gradually reach everyone's reach.

The two technology giants in the world Meta and Apple have already invest in the creation of smart glass. They are planning to produce billions of units and hope that this technology will soon be open to the common people.

The next ten years after the next ten years, the mobile phone may only take place in the memory pages, and in the new era of technology, people will complete their daily work through smart glass